

Teacher Who Fled Russian 'Prison' Won't Leave Hospital

New York, Aug. 13 (AP) — Mrs. Oksana Stepanovna Kosenkina today rejected the suggestion of a Soviet vice-consul that she be moved to another hospital, saying "you kept me a prisoner, you would not let me go."

The suggestion was made by Vice-Consul Zot I. Chepurnykh who visited the police-guarded hospital room of the Russian teacher, seriously injured yesterday when she jumped three stories from the Soviet consulate building.

Detective William Dyczko, a Russian-speaking officer who was in the hospital room during the vice-consul's visit, said Mrs. Kosenkina said, "no!" when Chepurnykh advanced his suggestion.

The detective said that after the vice-consul and a secretary arrived at the hospital and asked for permission to arrange for a visit from the consul general, he and Inspector Michael E. J. Ledden went upstairs to the teacher's room.

They told Mrs. Kosenkina there were two persons from the Soviet consulate who wanted to speak to her, Dyczko said.

"We told her 'we are going to bring them in and see if you can identify them.' A few minutes later they escorted Chepurnykh and the secretary into the room."

Chepurnykh was granted permission to see the injured teacher after conferring with Inspector Michael E. J. Ledden. A strong police detail has guarded the room since Mrs. Kosenkina was taken to Roosevelt hospital yesterday after her dramatic plunge.

Police had quoted her then as saying she did not wish to "see any one from the Russian consulate."

WORSHAM SETS COURSE RECORD OF 67 AT CLUB OPENING HERE

A gallery of more than 200 saw Lew Worsham, golf pro at the Oakmont Country club, Pittsburgh, and 1947 National Open champion, set a course record of 67, three under par, at the Gettysburg Country club's formal opening Thursday afternoon, while more than 400 others filled the bleachers and crowded around the pool to witness the swimming and diving exhibitions by Middle Atlantic and PIAA champions and local swimmers. Large galleries also followed the other two foursomes on the golf course.

Twelve golfers teed off in the afternoon's exhibition matches formally opening the new nine-hole, 6,046-yard, par 70 golf course which drew enthusiastic praise from the visiting golf pros. The first four-some left the No. 1 tee shortly after 1:30 o'clock. Worsham, Ed Tabor, West Shore Country club, Harrisburg; Floyd March, Carlisle Country club, and Mike Rooney, Cool Creek Country club, Wrightsville, were the first to start the tour of the sporty layout.

Eddie Brown Second
Worsham negotiated the first nine in par figures, going out in 35, but on the second nine he clipped three strokes from this score with birdies on the 13th, 16th and 17th holes. His card:

Worsham out 435 443 444-35
Par out 435 443 444-35
Worsham in 435 343 334-32-35-67
Par in 435 443 444-35-35-70

Edward Brown, Caledonia Golf club pro, shot the course in 71, one over par, to rank next to Worsham in the scoring. He played with Paul McKenzie, Waynesboro Country club, Riley Heckert, Harrisburg Country club, and Gene Heaney, Hanover (Please turn to Page 6)

Sixty stuffed animals were on display Thursday evening at the high school grounds for the first annual stuffed animal show of the Gettysburg Recreation association.

About 150 adults and many youngsters were also present to watch the proceedings.

Those entering animals ranged from 10 months old Bruce Tawney to a 16 year old girl.

The animals included Michael Schroeder's stuffed snake, made of cloth especially for the show by his mother which won first prize in the most unusual animal contest. Roger Craver won second place with a tiger and the third prize in that event went to Gary Wentz's small horse made of leather. The horse once was a flashlight and had a battery in it that lighted up the eyes.

In the funniest division Johnetta Murray won first prize; second went (Please turn to Page 2)

Triskaidekaphobia! That's Fearing Friday, The 13th

Today is (hush) Friday the 13th. With several hours remaining in the day those who failed so far to secure a rabbit's foot had better do so—for one never knows. The hold of Triskaidekaphobia is strong and one can never be too sure . . . huh? Oh! Triskaidekaphobia is the fear of the number 13, like in not liking to sleep 13 in a bed.

Anyway, today is Friday the 13th and a day of deep dark portents; a day to be doubly sure one does not walk under ladders, permit a black cat to cross one's path, light three on a match, etc. As for breaking mirrors on Friday the 13th—well, no one can tell what would happen if such a catastrophe occurs.

Anyone who has planted potatoes by the dark of the moon, or called in a hex doctor to pow-wow away a disease can tell you that the auguries for the day are not bright.

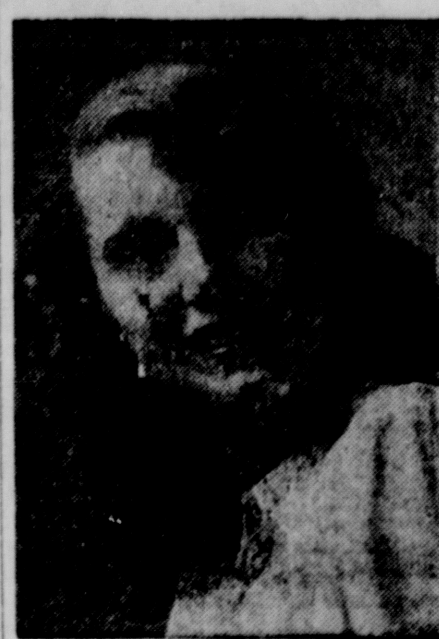

The best antidote against Friday the 13th would be to stay quietly in bed all day. The mere fact that most everyone has to get up and go to work is proof that bad luck plagues all.

By noon today the market of rabbits' feet—that is, rabbits' feet secured from a rabbit shot in the dark of the moon, the most potent kind—had closed. The available supply had been sold out.

Those unable to secure rabbits' legs carried with them salt shakers for throwing salt over their left shoulders to avoid trouble.

Plan "Homecoming" At Brethren Church

Starting at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, the local Church of the Brethren Sunday school will have its "homecoming." The goal that has been set by the school is to have all members of each family circle present.

The "homecoming" is open to the public.

Rail Passenger Service In County Ends Saturday; Last Train On Littlestown Branch

When the last passenger train leaves the Pennsylvania railroad station at Littlestown on Saturday afternoon at 2:15 p. m., for York, it will be the last regular passenger train to leave any station in Adams county. The Western Maryland and the Reading railroads which also operate in Adams county have ended passenger service within the past few years. The Pennsylvania has been the lone survivor.

Search of old newspapers reveals in the Adams Sentinel under date of July 6, 1857: "There was a very large assemblage of persons on the Fourth, at the breaking of ground for the Littlestown Railroad. Speeches were made by William McSherry, Esq., of Littlestown, Mr. Raymond Westminster, David Wills, and H. W. Stahl, Esqs., of Gettysburg. An excellent dinner was disposed of, and all passed off, we learn, very satisfactorily."

Started 91 Years Ago
Copies of the Sentinel show the letting of bids for grading the road and building the bridges took place early in June 1857. A Mr. McFadden of Westmoreland county was the successful bidder. His bid was $11,100. There seems to have been some skepticism about Mr. McFadden being able to complete his task for the writer of the article comments: "It seems to be a small sum comparatively; but we presume that he knows 'what he is about.'"

Although this railroad had its beginnings more than 91 years ago, it was not the first railroad to have a train of cars cross the Adams county line. On September 14, 1857, newspapers stated: "The first train of cars to enter Adams County was on the Hanover Branch Railroad, the Thursday before (September 10). This train was received by William McSherry, David Wills and others. Mr. McSherry, president of the Littlestown Railroad, congratulated the Board on their success and David Wills spoke on behalf of the Gettysburg Railroad. The train then passed on to the Junction."

Sought By Trunk Lines
Subsequent issues of the paper reveal that it was hard sailing for the officials of the railroad. Fears were being evidenced that this line would feed Baltimore over the Western Maryland instead of serving the best interests of the people between Hanover and Frederick. However, in spite of difficulty, the line was completed sometime between March 1, 1872, and October 17, 1872, for on the latter date this announcement appeared: "The line is now complete. The following are the names of the stations on the Frederick and Pennsylvania Line Railroad—Frederick, Harmony, Grove, Johnson's Station, Georgetown, Woodsboro, New Midway, Ladiesburg, Loat's Junction, Taneytown, Shue's Station, Kingsdale and Littlestown. The destination is Frederick to Littlestown—30 miles. Fare, $1.20."

No sooner had this railroad been completed than large trunk lines were desirous of securing it and making it a part of their trunk line. On November 20, 1874: "Directors and several officers of the Pennsylvania Railroad arrived at Frederick, Md., and conferred with the officers of the Frederick and Pennsylvania Line Railroad. Purpose—To effect a lease of said road which runs from Frederick to Hanover, connecting there with what is called 'the Short Line' to York, Pa., which has been recently constructed. It is understood that the Pennsylvania has already secured the road from Hanover through Littlestown to the Maryland Line. Object of the company—To secure the road from the state line to Frederick and then extend to Washington, making a direct route from York to Washington without going through Baltimore."

Taken Over By Pennsy
The Reading was a rival company trying to secure this lease, according to the records of December 12, 1874, but with no success. On January 8, 1875, a news item said: "The Pennsylvania Railroad company has leased the Frederick and Pennsylvania Line Railroad and took charge of it on Monday. It is understood that the Littlestown road and the new short line from Hanover to York will pass under the control of the same company, making a through line from Frederick to York, via Hanover. The purpose in the chances and traveled only in the directions shown them by the augurs. That direction was found by excavating upon the palm of one hand and then hitting the palm with a clenched fist, after which one followed the direction the saliva flew. This caused some difficulty—particularly on one way streets. There was some discussion as to whether stairs might be classified as ladders. This kept some purists off battlefield observation towers for the day.

One Gettysburg resident who started off the morning by dropping his mirror and breaking it, walking under a ladder while en route to breakfast and who had his path crossed by a black cat while en route to work was living in terror that the three portents would close in on him before the day was out. Up to press time he had been offered four apartments for rent, a second hand car dealer was trying to give him four 1940 cars and $1,000 cash for a brand new model which a dealer was trying to force him to buy with immediate delivery. During the middle of the afternoon a radio quiz program called offering a trip around the world, $50,000 cash, two tug boats, a railroad engine and 500 yards of track, a B-29 and four submarines if he could recite the third line on page 393 of "Gone With the Wind." Just by accident he happened to be reading the book at the time and was on page 393—that's luck for you—

Two Motorists Are Fined For Speeding

Spencer Mumma, Hagerstown, paid a fine of $10 and costs to Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore on a charge of speeding. State police of the Gettysburg sub-station filed the charge.

Arthur R. Coldsmit, Chambersburg R. 2, was fined $10 and costs by Justice of the Peace Vernon Snyder, Littlestown R. D., also on a speeding charge.

Watch and jewelry repairing, Edward Hughes, 240 Chambersburg street.

Pennsylvania Railroad in securing this line has not been disclosed, but it was probably to prevent its passing into the hands of the Reading Company."

Once Prosperous Line
There was a time when this was a prosperous line and the old timers tell how it was possible to leave Littlestown about 5 a. m. on this train for Philadelphia, and after spending several hours in the city shopping, they could return home early in the evening. They tell also of the busy line it was when it carried train loads of ore from this vicinity.

Passenger service on the road was curtailed until it got down to one round trip a day. However, Littlestown will still have a railroad. Freight service will be continued. Some time ago, freight service was curtailed to carload shipments coming into Littlestown only three times a week. That will continue. There is still a daily freight through Littlestown and those who receive less than carload shipments will receive freight daily excepting Sunday. G. A. Royston, Littlestown, is the present station agent at Littlestown.

Beginning with Monday, August 16, the mail that came by train, will be delivered at about the same hours by truck. This will entail more work for some postoffices as there will have to be more through pouches, where formerly, mail was sorted on the railway mail car. As a result of mail arriving by truck, the hour of arrival will be more regular than it was by train. The carrier for the new truck route will be the same one that is now operating the other truck routes in the borough of Littlestown.

Accounts of Progress

Under date of November 16, 1857, papers noted warehouses were being built at Littlestown and one of them was for the railroad company. The next item concerning this venture was under date of December 14: "The rails are now being laid on the Littlestown railroad and should the weather during the winter be favorable, they hope to travel upon it by spring."

An account of an election and a financial report is dated January 25, 1858. "The Littlestown Railroad (Continued on P. 3, Second Section)

MAY PURCHASE GAS FIRM ASSETS

No further information was available at the local gas company office on the appended AP dispatch from Washington.

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—An application for approval of transactions aimed at purchase of the assets of Gettysburg Gas corporation of Pittsburgh by Manufacturers Light and Heat company, Pittsburgh, was filed yesterday with the securities and exchange commission. Both are subsidiaries of Columbia Gas System, Inc., New York holding company.

The application asks an SEC order authorizing Columbia to surrender to Gettysburg its $112,500 of six per cent first mortgage bonds due September 1, 1948, and $140,000 of six per cent income demand loans now held by Columbia.

Prior to the surrender, Gettysburg would make a payment upon the $17,350 accrued interest on the income demand loans to the extent of its earned surplus since Sept. 30, 1946. Balance would be forgiven by Columbia.

TWO MEN HURT WHEN CAR HITS WALL OF HOUSE

Two occupants of an automobile which ran amuck at the York Springs intersection on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road at 11:30 o'clock Thursday night and crashed into a brick house, were brought to the Warner hospital here.

William E. Overlees, 56, of 103 North Third street, Harrisburg, driver of the car, suffered lacerations of the lips, chest contusions and possible fracture of the breast bone, state police, who investigated, said.

Estimate $2,500 Damage
Pvt. Armistead Slaughter, 19, negro soldier en route to Ft. Dix, N. J., and who had been picked up by Overlees in Gettysburg, suffered a laceration of the forehead, contusion of the knees and cut lips. Slaughter had previously suffered a broken jaw when he was struck by a baseball bat. The accident Thursday night broke the braces on his jaw.

State police said Overlees was driving north and on the hill approaching the intersection apparently lost control of his car.

It struck the home of the Misses Jean and Hazel Pearson, on the northwest corner of the intersection.

Police estimated damage to the house at $1,500. Damage to the car was placed at $1,000.

JAY WOODWARD IS ARRESTED AS DRIVER THAT HIT GOLDIE ALTHOFF

State police of the Gettysburg sub-station late Thursday afternoon arrested Jay T. Woodward, 20, South Washington street, as the driver of an automobile which ran over Goldie Teresa Althoff, 18, of Gettysburg R. 1, at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday night on the Baltimore road. The girl died after being removed to the Warner hospital. Woodward was taken before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore, where he signed a plea of guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident without revealing his identity, and was held for $500 bail for his appearance.

Dr. Chester G. Crist, coroner, announced today that an inquest in the girl's death will be held Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the court house. Those drawn to serve on the coroner's jury are: Wilbur A. Gelsman, Benton Gilbert, Cyril Staub, James Tawney, Ivan Kitzmiller and G. Henry Roth.

Fell From Car
Miss Althoff died at 10:40 o'clock of a fractured skull, fractured thighs, and internal injuries. She also suffered scalp lacerations, contusions on chest and abdomen, multiple abrasions and extensive shock.

State police, who investigated, said she was riding in the rear seat of a four-door sedan, driven by her father, William J. Althoff, and fell from the car opposite the home of Mrs. Calvin Fissel, Baltimore road, two-tenths of a mile beyond the borough limits.

Mr. and Mrs. Althoff, Goldie and two other daughters were en route to their home, near the Crouse junk yard, after picking up the other daughters at the Majestic theater.

Althoff told authorities that he stopped his automobile and attempted to flag Woodward's car, but that the latter came on, and just before reaching the girl's body, swerved to the left, the car running over part of the body.

Says He Called Ambulance
Woodward told police that after the accident he stopped his car and then went to the Bankert restaurant nearby to call an ambulance for Miss Althoff. He returned to the scene, he said, according to police, and waited there until the ambulance arrived and Miss Althoff was removed to the hospital.

No one during that period asked him his name, he said, and assuming there was nothing further he could do to be of assistance he drove on home after Miss Althoff had been removed.

He was driving a brother's, Paul Woodward's, car, Woodward is said to have told police. He added he did not say anything to anyone about the accident after he returned home because he "did not want to worry his parents."

Gave Name At Hospital

Police found, during their investigation, that Woodward had given his name when calling the hospital and went in search of the man who had called the hospital as a possible witness in the case. When they arrived at Woodward's home and found him he told them that he was the driver of the car.

A local resident who said she was at Bankert's restaurant when Woodward came in there said today that Woodward seemed highly excited at the time and kept muttering "I've killed a woman, I've killed a woman."

Arraigned before Squire Basehore, Woodward read the information filed against him and declared the facts were correct.

Mrs. Pittenturf's Rites On Saturday

The Rev. Dr. O. D. Coble will be assisted by the Rev. H. W. Sternat and the Rev. Donald Heiges in the funeral services for Mrs. Annie Deatrick Pittenturf, 85, who died Wednesday afternoon at her home in Aspers.

The services will be held from the late home Saturday at 2:30 o'clock with interment in the Biglerville cemetery. Mrs. Pittenturf, widow of the late C. S. Pittenturf is survived by two foster daughters, Mrs. Arnold Sell, Ridgeville, Del., and Miss Betty Borise, at home, in addition to other survivors listed in Thursday editions of The Times.

Luther Markle, 65-year-old farmer, was rescued at midnight Thursday from the flood-swept bank of Mud run in northeastern Adams county after clinging to a tree there for nearly five hours during an electrical storm that lashed the Helderburg-York Springs-Hampton triangle with torrents of rain, wind and hail.

Markle and his horse and buggy were swept by high waters off a small submerged bridge, near Round Hill, as he was driving toward his Reading township home from Hampton about 6:30 p. m.

The horse, with parts of the buggy attached by the harness, was able to reach the banks, while Markle caught hold of a small tree in waist-deep water on a submerged creek bank at least 700 feet below the bridge. The remainder of the buggy has not been found.

Markle Clung to Tree

Markle clung to the tree until shouts for help were heard by persons living nearby. Fire fighting equipment—to supply searchlights, ladders and ropes—and a boat from East Berlin were assembled by neighborhood men and firemen from York Springs and East Berlin who accomplished the rescue shortly before midnight.

York Springs Flooded

A dozen men, wading in water that was often up to their necks, made fast heavy ropes across the still-swollen stream and then took a boat out to the point where Markle was stranded by moving the boat along the ropes. As far as could be learned today, Mr. Markle was none the worse for the experience.

Before they were called to the Mud run rescue, York Springs firemen had been busy during the evening flushing mud and rubbish from their town's streets deposited there by what residents described as the "worst flood in more than 25 years."

Much of the central section of town—from the hotel to the Quaker bakery on the main street—was flooded. Water entered St.'s frozen custard shop and caused damage there. Basements of many homes in the area were flooded.

Hail "As Large As Eggs"

There was some hail in the torrential rains that swept that section in the early evening. Lightning was heavy and caused interruption (Please turn to Page 2)

SAYS IDENTITY OF WAR DEAD IS BEYOND DOUBT

"The next of kin of service men whose bodies are brought back from military cemeteries overseas can rest assured that the bodies returned for burial in this country are those of their sons, husbands, or other relatives," Sam Clarke, a representative of the Philadelphia Quartermaster's depot, told a gathering in the court house Thursday night called to discuss and explain the repatriation of World War II dead.

"All of the bodies have been definitely identified, without the shadow of a doubt," Clarke said. Clyde E. Rankin, deputy adjutant general in charge of veterans' affairs, was another speaker.

Clarke explained that of all the bodies recovered, only six per cent remain unidentified, and that no notices were sent to next of kin where bodies could not be identified.

when the body of this relative is brought home," he added.

He appealed for a re-kindling of community interest and greater attention on the part of veteran organizations.

Clarke said there seems to be more interest in Gettysburg and more publicity than in many other places, attributed by him largely to the fact that a national cemetery is located here.

Referring to the regulations governing the return of bodies, Clarke said that many next of kin have not returned their questionnaires. The quartermaster's depot wants to know whether families want the bodies brought back to the United States or left in their present burial places, he said.

Vets' Officers There

"In many cases we have received no replies at all," Clarke said. "We don't even know whether they received a questionnaire." He urged that they be returned at once.

Three veteran organizations, the Albert J. Lentz Post of the American Legion, Gettysburg Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars and the local camp of the United Spanish War Veterans, were represented at the meeting.

Also present were Miss Margaret McMillan, executive secretary of the Adams County Red Cross; three undertakers, J. Milton Bender and Harry Deatrick, Gettysburg, and S. L. Allison, Fairfield; Alvin Baker, superintendent of the Gettysburg National cemetery, and Dr. J. Walter Coleman, national park superintendent.

Joseph P. Nolan, of Chambersburg, will seek the Senate seat from the Adams-Franklin district, following the withdrawal of Paul Moomaw, of Waynesboro.

FOUR ESCAPE STOVE BLAST

Four persons escaped injury when a stove exploded in a cottage at the summer colony along the Conewago creek, at Dicks' dam, Tuesday morning about 10 o'clock.

Miss Helen Ruth, owner of the cottage, known as the "KilKare," said the explosion is believed to have been caused by steam generated in the water back. The blast hurled pieces of the stove about the kitchen and sent bits of steel fragments ripping through screen enclosures.

Miss Ruth said that she and her mother, Mrs. Jennie Feiser, Lincolnway East, New Oxford, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Ruth, Philadelphia, were in the kitchen preparing a meal when the explosion occurred.

Several minor blazes caused by scattered burning embers and hot pieces of metal were extinguished by her brother who is vacationing at the cottage. Mrs. Feiser, who will observe her eighty-seventh birthday September 24, was planning to use the stove later in the for baking. Wearing apparel and cottage furnishings were damaged by the blast. Miss Ruth received a bruised and lacerated left ankle. The others suffered from shock.

INDIANS SPLIT WITH ST. LOUIS; A'S TAKE LEAD

(By The Associated Press)

The Cleveland Indians went on the biggest batting spree in their American league history last night—yet were knocked out of first place in the whisker close pennant race.

Beaten 8-4 in the first half of a twilight-night twin bill with St. Louis, the Tribe bounced back to bury the Browns under a 26-3 avalanche. Nevertheless they slid back to second place.

The Indians now have captured 63 games and lost 42 for an even .600. Connie Mack's surprising Philadelphia Athletics, who rose to the top without lifting a finger, have won 65 and lost 43 for .602. They also boast a half game advantage.

29 Hits and 26 Runs
Aroused by the first game defeat, which dumped them out of first place for the first time since August 2, the Indians went on the warpath once the lights were turned on, scalping five St. Louis hurlers for 29 hits, good for 48 total bases.

It was the biggest hit total ever made by a Cleveland club since it quit the National league to join the American at the turn of the century, and fell only one short of equalling the league record of 30 set by the New York Yankees July 28, 1923. The major league record of 31 was set by the New York Giants in 1901.

Four home runs were hit by the Indians, Pitcher Gene Bearden, Larry Doby, Jim Hegan and Walt Judnich hitting circuit blows.

Braves Gain a Game
Bob Feller relieved Bearden on the mound in the eighth when the Indians were ahead 26-1 and gave up two St. Louis runs in the ninth.

Joe Ostrowski, making his first major league start, speeded 11 Cleveland hits in the opener to rack up his second victory. The Browns jumped on former teammate Sam Zolcak early, scoring six runs in less than four innings to knock the left-hander off the mound. Dick Kokos pounded out three doubles and Eddie Pellagrini batted in three runs with a double and triple.

The Boston Braves gained a full game on the Brooklyn Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals by defeating the Dodgers 2-1 in a thrilling pitching duel in Boston. They now lead the Dodgers and Cards by four full games.

Win for Spahn

The Cards were beaten 3-2 by the Pirates in Pittsburgh when Wally Westlake singled with two out and the bases full in the last half of the ninth to drive in the tying and winning runs.

The Braves also won in the ninth. Tied at 1-1, the Braves counted the winning run when Ralph Branca let loose with a wild pitch, allowing Sisti to cross the plate.

Warren Spahn went all the way for the Braves, allowing only five hits. It was his ninth victory.

Pirates in Top Division

The Cards appeared all set to move into second place as they went into the last half of the ninth with a 2-1 lead. Murry Dickson, who had permitted only three hits in eight innings, had singled in the third and scored on Marty Marion's bingle. After the Pirates tied the score in the sixth, Dickson singled in the ninth to drive in Enos Slaughter with what appeared to be the winning run.

The Pirates set the stage for Westlake's winning hit when a single by Max West, an error by Marion, a sacrifice and an intentional pass to Dixie Walker loaded the bases with one out. Dickson forced Ralph Kiner to pop out, but Westlake came through with the payoff wallop.

The victory moved Pittsburgh into the first division by .008 over the New York Giants, .5204 to .5196.

The only other scheduled game—Boston at New York in the American league—was postponed by rain.

Many householders packed papers and cloths around their doors to keep out the flood waters.

The Heidersburg and Five Points sections were reported among the hardest hit by wind and hail. Hailstones, variously reported to have been as "large as eggs" and at other points as large as walnuts, stripped many cornfields. Trees were blown over and a part of the home of Walter Ogburn, at Woodside, north of Hunterstown, was unroofed.

COUNTY LOOPS NEARING END OF SEASONS

Adams county's 200 baseball players will be much in the limelight this week-end as the league seasons begin to reach the point where top spots on the final standings may be achieved.

Ortanna, for example, can annex the top position on the final Adams county league standing by winning two out of the three games it still has to play.

Even without that, if the game protested by Hanover at Littlestown last week remains as it is now, a win for Littlestown, Ortanna can assure itself of at least a first place tie by winning Saturday. The Ortannans are leading the loop by two full games and with only three to go a win will put it in a perfect spot.

South Penn Games

In Sunday's South Penn league battles the squads will be playing, for the most part, the next to last games of the regular schedule and both the Conewago VFW or Cash-town have moved into a position from which either can reach the top rung of the ladder by the end of the season. The Arendtsville lads seem to have the best chance, being a half game ahead of Cash-town, but Cashtown has one more game than Arendtsville to play and the situation there could wind up in a tight tie for the top position in the standings.

Saturday games in the Adams county league include Littlestown at New Oxford, York Springs at McSherrystown, and Emmitsburg at Ortanna. Hanover, Saturday, will reap the harvest of Gettysburg's leaving the league by being awarded a forfeit. Fairfield and Bendersville, originally scheduled to play Saturday at Fairfield are taking their game to Bendersville where it will be played Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the "apple bowl."

Sunday afternoon's South Penn games will include what should be a close match between Barlow and Granite at Granite. The other games all of which also should be close fought, include Greenmount at Cashtown, Arendtsville at Heidlersburg, Wenksville at Brushtown, and Bonneauville at Gettysburg.

Gettysburg To Play

The game at Gettysburg promises to be a "hum-dinger" despite the fact that Bonneauville has already won it, legally. Manager Ken Knox proposes to put a highly regarded, but illegal, team on the field, bow gracefully to Bonneauville and inform the visiting players that they have just won by a forfeit, 9 to 0 and then will attempt to beat the tar out of them in the practice game that will follow. With about half of the former, legal players dropping out of the squad, Knox picked up about five of the best players from the defunct American Legion team in the Adams county league, and proposes to forfeit, yet play, for the remainder of the season. The contest will be held on the Quarry diamond just outside the borough limits Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

In the Penn-Maryland games Sunday Hanover will be at McSherrystown, Littlestown at Thurmont, Harney at Blue Ridge Summit, Taneytown at Middleburg and Emmitsburg at Wakefield.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press) Wilmington's Blue Rocks maintained their five-percentage-point lead over the Trenton Giants today in the tight Interstate league pennant fight.

Neither outfit could gain any ground as both divided twin bills last night. Wilmington jolted Sunbury 6-3 in their opener thanks to a five-run spurge in the seventh inning featuring Stan Hollmig's three-run home run. Sunbury's Reds bounced back to win the nightcap, 3-1 behind the five-hit, 12-strikeout fling of Moe Savransky.

Trenton beat Harrisburg 4-3 but lost out in the aftermath by a 4-3 count in a 10-inning battle. Paul Lapalme bested Alex Kotrany in a pitcher's duel in the opener. The winning run was forced across the plate by a basesloaded walk in the nightcap. John Sivinski socked his 19th and 20th homers for Harrisburg.

Redlegs' Fireman Unhappy In Role

Cincinnati, Aug. 13 (AP)—Durable Harry Gumbert, one of major league baseball's busiest full-time firemen, isn't too happy with his lot. He'd like to start some games.

"There's satisfaction, all right, in going in there and putting out the fire," said Cincinnati's Handsome Harry, as some of his friends call him. "You save a game for a teammate and maybe you win one once in a while. But I'm one of those guys who likes to start and win his own game."

The 38-year-old Redleg right-hander ranks near the top of relievers with 42 games and 74½ innings. Ted Wilks, the St. Louis Cards' fireman, has the edge on Gumbert in innings, with 86, but he has appeared in only 41 games. Harry is tops in both leagues in the number of games.

BANTAMS WIN OVER LITITZ

The Gettysburg "Bantams"—none a day over 11 years of age, handed a visiting "Wrens" team from Lititz a 4 to 3 defeat Thursday afternoon at the high school field.

The "Wrens," a baseball team also made up of 11 year old or younger players, pushed across two runs in the sixth to tie the score at 3 to 3, but the locals were able to add another run in the same inning to assure themselves a victory. Gettysburg held a 3 to 1 lead up to the sixth inning.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

The Scranton Miners, apparently recovered from a serious setback in their series with the Albany Senators, now have a five-game winning streak at the expense of the Hartford Chiefs.

The second-place Miners, who dropped three games to the third place Senators Sunday and Monday, scored their fifth victory over the Chiefs in three days last night, 2-1.

In other Eastern league games, the Binghamton Triplets scored nine runs in the eighth and ninth innings to trounce the Williamsport Tigers, 11-3, and the Utica Blue Sox took advantage of two costly errors to beat the Pioneers at Elmira, 3-1.

The Senators dropped an exhibition game to the Philadelphia Athletics 5-2, before 6,410 fans at Albany.

York and Allentown also split a doubleheader. Little Joe Matty pitched and batted the York White Roses to a 4-1 decision in the nightcap after the Redbirds won the opener 9-5, wrapping up the game with a six-run barrage in the second inning.

Today's games: Trenton at Sunbury; Wilmington at Harrisburg; Lancaster at York, and Allentown at Hagerstown.

TEXAS LUNCH DEFEATS ELKS IN PLAYOFF

Texas Lunch Thursday evening tied its semi-final series with the Elks in the playoffs for the championship of the community softball league.

Eking out a 5 to 4 victory in a seven inning game at the high school, the Lunchmen forced the series into three games, with the third to be played Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock on the high school diamond. The Elks had won the first contest of the series. The victor of Monday's game will play the Highway in a three game playoff for the loop title.

Fissel tripled and then came in on Bartholomew's triple in the sixth inning to give Texas Lunch the one additional run it needed for the victory.

Tie In Fifth

The Elks started the proceedings in the first inning when B. Bushman came across on Herr's single. In the third the Lunchmen tied the score at 1-1 with Heintzelman crossing the platter. Both teams scored three runs in the fifth to maintain the tie. G. Bushman and R. Sachs got on base via walks and B. Bushman reached first with a single. All three reached home safely to score runs for the Elks. On the Texas Lunch side Bartholomew tripled, came in on Heintzelman's single. Ogden's triple brought in Heintzelman and Ogden then came across with the tying run.

BABE CALLS MEN GOLFERS SISSIES

Northfield, N. J., Aug. 13 (AP)—When you get right down to it, says Babe Zaharias, the men golfers of this country are practically sissies—they are afraid to let her play in their big tournaments.

Mrs. Zaharias, favored to win the women's national open which begins today after a day's postponement because of rain, recalled her attempt to enter the men's open last spring.

The Babe said she made an informal request to play in the open. "You know what they did?" she asked. "Changed their rules. Inserted the word 'male' somewhere. They made it strictly a man's tournament." Mrs. Zaharias turned in a 73 on the Atlantic City Country club course here in her first tuneup round. That's one over men's par and two under the women's. Her score was a pre-tournament low for the 51 competitors in the women's open.

Today's Talk

Gratitude is possibly the poorest paid commodity in the world. We even complain about the weather — but just think for a moment of the overwhelming number of good days that far offset the bad ones. We have far more of the good things of life to be thankful for than the ones that are not so good.

We do things for people but the gratitude in return may be only a fraction of what is given. But there is this compensation — we have an inward satisfaction that nearly always makes up the difference. This is often difficult to figure out — but it balances in the end as one's accumulated years prove.

Even nations are often ungrateful for the help of other nations. We have an example of this in the world today. The democratic nations of the earth are doing their best to return good for evil toward their former enemies, but the going is exceedingly slow. It's the right track to take, anyway.

Simon Bolivar freed all South America from the tyranny of Spanish rule — yet died neglected and almost alone, his dying words being that he would be happy if only his former helpers would stop quarreling. Now the gratitude of his country is overwhelming — but too late to give him happiness, or for him to know.

How often it is that the only way we can repay a kindness, or even some act in which money is involved, is through genuine gratitude. It creeps over everything. And it enlarges the very act that inspired it. The gratitude of a son or daughter toward his or her father and mother, when rendered to the full, makes up for all the care and sacrifices of the years.

Our highest gratitude should be given to God, who fashioned us, who formed the earth, and all that it contains of beauty and wonder. From him all blessings flow. Thus, through each one of us, can He be made manifest and alive in this world of ours. If each day we would only count our blessings, one by one, we would never fail to distribute our gratitude far and wide.

There is the breath of God's voice in every sincere — Thank You!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "This Headpiece."

WORRIER

Used to think when they were small,
By and by when they had grown,
I'd be through with one and all
Of the worries I had known.
"When they're strong enough," I'd say,
"We can turn them out to play."

But when they were seven and eight,
Bicycles they begged to ride,
Fancying the danger great,
Later (that's how youngsters are)
Came the wish to drive the car.

"Well," said I, "the day will come
When no more we'll have to fret.
Fear will be less troublesome
When responsible they get."
Many a night I woke afraid
When too late away they stayed.

Thought it ended when they'd wed
And came children of their own.
But there seems no end to dread.
All the fears I fancied flown
Have returned. I worry still
Every time a grandchild's ill.

Amid volleys of cheering they passed beneath arches formed by Fascist banners.

Premier Mussolini, wishing the airmen to receive the undivided plaudits of the multitude, did not participate in the triumph.

New York, Aug. 13 (P)—The New York State Athletic Commission will decide today whether to permit two championship fights in New York on consecutive nights in September.

The commission already has approved a Sept. 22 date for the 20th Century Sporting club which has matched Lightweight Champion Ike Williams against Jesse Flores. The Tournament of Champions, a promoting group formed this spring, has announced plans for a Sept. 23 fight in Brooklyn involving Middleweight King Tony Zale and Marcel Cerdan.

Erring putts that wouldn't drop cost each of them a possible lead at the end of yesterday's opening round. They were five under par with 67s for a one-stroke lead over Ky Laffoon, St. Andrews, Ill.; Otto Greiner, Baltimore, Md., and Bill Nary, Phoenix, Ariz.

ANDREW, THE MAN WHO BROUGHT OTHERS

By Rev. Howard R. Gold, D.D.

Margaret C. Gold

Matthew 4:18; Mark 1:16-21, 29; 3:18; 13:3-7; Luke 6:14; John 1:37-43; 6:8-9; 12:20-22; Acts 1:12-14.

Memory selection: He brought them to Jesus.—John 1:42

The lesson presents a most important factor in advancing the cause of Jesus Christ. It is the value of personal evangelism or working with individuals which is shown in the life and character of Andrew the Disciple. We learn most about Andrew in John's Gospel. A native of Betsaida, a fisherman and disciple of John the Baptist before he knew and recognized Jesus, Andrew shared a home at Capernaum with his brother Simon Peter. The two brothers were of entirely different temperaments and were the first ones Jesus called to be "fishers of men." Andrew was always faithful to that call for he sought opportunities to tell others of the Messiah.

Bringing Others
We first meet Andrew as a disciple of John the Baptist. He heard these words fall from John's lips: "Behold the Lamb of God." That, and no doubt the unusual personality of Jesus, led Andrew and a companion to follow the Master and stay with Him the rest of that day. What was said is not recorded but Andrew was much impressed. His next step was to find his brother Peter and declare: "We have found the Messiah." That was Andrew's first notable act in evangelizing. He had put himself in the way of revealing light by listening intently to the Baptist. Having his own candle lighted so he could recognize Christ, immediately he passed on the light (or torch).

Preaching is necessary but the will and ability to work with individuals in extending God's kingdom is also essential. The one who seriously applies himself to winning souls for Christ renders invaluable service. Peter may have become better known as a preacher and leader but Andrew possessed the tact and perseverance to draw men to the source of all power and light. No doubt

Andrew became a Disciple and several times brought about important contacts with Jesus. When five thousand people had followed Jesus into the place to which he had retired and the question of feeding the people arose Andrew was the one who suggested a solution: "There is a lad here who has five loaves and two fishes." By this time Andrew had been convinced of his Lord's power and believed that the meager supply at hand could be multiplied to meet the need. He was not a leader in this episode but a minor character often supplies the thoughtful suggestion. Mankind again and again would be better served if there were more Andrews to bring to Christ the need of the multitude and the supply required.

The Greeks
On one occasion certain Greeks came to Philip and said: "Sir, we would see Jesus." Evidently that disciple did not know just what to do. Should he perhaps tell them about Jesus? Should he presume that the Master wanted to see these foreigners? He decided to ask Andrew and at once they together led the inquirers to Jesus. It was not for him to try to satisfy the Greeks, Andrew concluded, but to introduce them to the Lord directly.

In this incident lies wholesome advice. Many an earnest worker worries unduly about making conversions. How shall one go about it? The thing needed is a personal conviction that Christ is sufficient for you and then transmit the source of your own joy to those you would influence. Presumably the Greeks were cordially received by Jesus and heard his public address when He said, "I, if I be lifted up from the earth will draw all men unto me."

Modern Andrews
Andrew was one of the faithful laymen who helped to lay the foundation of the Christian church. Many a modern churchman has been in the role Andrew dignified with Jesus recognized these qualities.

Modern Andrews
Andrew was one of the faithful laymen who helped to lay the foundation of the Christian church. Many a modern churchman has been in the role Andrew dignified with his fruitful service. The man who brought Dwight L. Moody to Christianity. Many laymen who devote time and energy in winning others for Christ supplement the work of their pastor to a degree no one can calculate. Bringing people to Jesus carries its own personal reward.

Tradition
There are many traditions and legends concerning Andrew. He suffered a martyr's death in Achaia on a cross shaped like an X which ever since has been called St. Andrew's Cross. Andrew became the patron saint of Scotland and both the Greek and Roman churches still celebrate the festival of Andrew on November 30.

This is the legend of how Andrew became the patron saint. A ship which bore two relics of St. Andrew was wrecked in a bay of Scotland which was afterwards named St. Andrew's Bay. The sailors who reached shore safely introduced the gospel into that country. Andrew's quiet consistent discipleship won for him a distinctive place in church history.

BIGLERVILLE HI INVITES 40 TO FIRST PRACTICE

Forty upper Adams youths have been asked to turn out for the Biglerville high school football squad this coming season.

According to cards sent by Arthur M. Gordon, director of athletics for the Upper Adams Joint School System, those interested in trying out for the team are to report at the Biglerville high school on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The evening hour was set because most of the young men are working in orchards or elsewhere and it was felt that many could not attend afternoon practices.

Good '47 Record
Coach Eugene Haas, starting his third season at Biglerville high school, and Assistant Coach Russell Kane, starting his second year there, will be on hand Tuesday evening to meet with the prospective football players.

With a record of five wins and four losses last year and a better than 500 record in the Conference of the Roses, the Biglerville team has hopes this year of coming near the top in conference standing. Other members of the conference include West York, Red Lion, Ephrata, Palmyra, Manheim, Manheim township, and Elizabethtown.

Seventeen Veterans
Seventeen of those to whom the cards went are veterans of last year's gridiron battles, either of the varsity or junior varsity. The remainder are men whom the coaches have hopes that they can develop into football material.

Topping the list of those from last year asked to turn out Tuesday is Clark Heller, outstanding fullback last season. Others from last year's squad asked to try out again for backfield positions are George Weaver, Ronald Grimm and Carl Rose. Four backs from last year's junior varsity, Richard Warner, Ronald Rice, Sterling Kint and Jack Howe are also among those who receive cards to drop around for the initial practice.

Among the linemen from last year's squad asked to turn out are Robert Weikert, Clyde Naylor, Charles Cook, Richard Unger, Harold Hollabaugh and Donald Hollabaugh (Harold's twin brother). Among last year's junior varsity men asked to be present for the first practice are Dick Allison, Richard Pitzer and Pay Kopp.

Much of the practice will be under lights this season with the squad scheduled to play nine games, five of them conference tilts, and all of them are listed to be played at night.

The season will open September 17 at Mechanicsburg followed by another away game, at Boiling Springs on September 25. The squad will hold its first home tilt, a conference game, at Biglerville on September 30 when it meets Red Lion.

Other games listed include, October 7, Washington Township, at home; October 14, West York, at home; October 23, Manheim Borough, away; October 29, Palmyra, at home; November 5, Quincey orphanage, at home, and November 12, Elizabethtown, away.

Country club. McKenzie and Hecker each had 75's and Heaney a 76.

Local Team Loses
The two-man Chambersburg team, composed of Arthur Edgar, Chambersburg Country club, and Johnny Riddlemoser, former Gettysburgian, defeated the local team of Sam Mellon, local club pro, and Paul Whitmoyer, director of the Gettysburg Recreation association. Edgar had a 78, Riddlemoser an 80, Mellon a 79 and Whitmoyer an 81.

Ray Ulmer, Lancaster, acted as announcer for the swimming and diving demonstrations, designed to show members of the Gettysburg club the results accomplished in swimming instruction among youngsters. The club pool, in charge of Jack Shainline, will have similar courses of instruction, it was announced.

Swimming Demonstrations
Gladys Humphries, Lancaster, who won the junior 880-yard championship Wednesday night and is the holder of other Middle Atlantic titles, and Susan Kise, York, 100-yard Middle Atlantic breast stroke champion, demonstrated the use of boards in the pool to teach swimmers the proper leg action, while June Ulmer, Lancaster, 50-yard junior backstroke champ and Dorothy Templeton, Lancaster, 50-yard middle Atlantic junior free style champ, gave a demonstration with flippers and gloves.

A relay race between Jean Kane and Jean Williams, Gettysburg club, and Joan Eyde and Shirley Beck, both of Lancaster, was won by the latter.

Diving Exhibitions
Diving exhibitions, including jack-knife, back somersault, double twists and swan dives, were given by Gloria Bitzer and Doris Nesle, Lancaster, and Judy Talbot, Chambersburg, for the girls, and by Ted Lescher, Chambersburg and Dave Forney, Gettysburg, for the men.

Diving and swimming demonstrations were also given by Henry Sangry, Tommy Fassnacht, Elmer Smith and Ruddy Valentino, Lancaster.

A free-style relay demonstration was given by Vivian Thomas, Gladys Humphries, Dorothy Templeton and Anne Poole, the latter a Harrisburg swimmer.

A buffet supper was served on the lawn in front of the clubhouse at 6 o'clock. Music was provided during the evening by Willet's orchestra of Hanover.

Glenn L. Bream, chairman of the golf committee, was in charge of the arrangements for the golf matches and Dave Forney was in charge of events in the pool.
